Education and literacy goes hand in hand, thus a literate population is an educated population. Literacy plays a vital role in everyone's life which makes it easier to learn and adapt to new things and changes.

One source refers to education as "an act or process of imparting or acquiring knowledge, developing powers of reasoning and judgment and preparing of oneself or other's intellectually for a mature life." Learning, literacy and education doesn't always come from a classroom setting all the time but also from interacting, socializing, analyzing and adapting oneself to different things.

Being literate and having an education opens the doors to the world. It is the foundation for continuous learning and a vital characteristic of the highly skilled population needed for a better community and world. Literacy development is a shared responsibility. School authorities, school leadership, staff, teachers, parents, communities, and students must all work together.

We can start by reading a book and remember, you are never too old nor is it too late to get an education.

Education is movement from darkness to light ~ Allan Bloom~

International Volunteer Week 2011

International Volunteer Week takes place April 10-16, 2011 and the theme is Volunteers: Passion. Action. Impact. The aim is to recognize and honor the people who have made meaningful contributions by volunteering their time. Canada has a rich history of volunteering and community involvement. Volunteers are on the front lines of all our community services - community health care, volunteer firefighting, heritage and arts, minor sports - the list is endless. The work of volunteers are essential work, hence; National Volunteer Week (NWK) pays tribute to the millions of volunteers who donate their time and energy.

EEOC would also like to say special thanks to all our volunteers including our Board of Directors, Community Members and instructors who support us - we appreciate it!
